BOARD CHAIR’S MESSAGE

On behalf of the Board of Directors of the Army Heritage Center Foundation, I want to thank each of you who in 2013 supported the Foundation. Our partnership with the U.S. Army to expand the campus of the U.S. Army Heritage and Education Center (USAHEC), to promote the Center, and to enhance the education programs on-site and in schools across this Nation continues only with the backing and support of our members and our donors!

The Foundation’s focus remains the expansion of USAHEC, and 2013 was a transitional period for our efforts as we completed one construction project and prepared for the next. In the late winter, the Foundation finalized the transfer to the Army of the infrastructure site improvement that had been our focus for much of 2012. These site improvements prepared the campus for an expansion of the Visitor Center and ensured our compliance with environmental regulations. Though always a factor in our planning, 2013 sharpened our focus to obtain the necessary funds to expand the Visitor Center that will add a Soldier art gallery, provide more multipurpose rooms to support larger and more complex programs, and improve facilities that enhance the visitors’ experience. However, as the defense industries scale back, our natural partners in expanding USAHEC possess less capability to assist. We have and will continue to ask each of you to help us in any manner you can. Additionally, we ask you to aid the Foundation staff to identify other sources of support that will enhance USAHEC’s ability to grow and to tell the Army story and preserve the memories of our Soldiers and their Families.

While funds to support our efforts to grow USAHEC are critical, equally important is improving outreach and growing visitation. The Foundation has continued to promote the Center in both print and electronic media as both an educational resource and a tourist destination. As we have done in the past, the Foundation purchased advertisements in regional tourism publications and assisted the USAHEC staff gain regional news coverage of programs and events. Added to this traditional media in 2013 was a greater emphasis on expanding our electronic footprint on Facebook and Twitter. So if you have an account, like us on Facebook (www.facebook.com/ArmyHeritageCenterFoundation) or follow-us on Twitter (@ArmyHeritage).

Our outreach is not, however, just to those who read tourism materials or who are online. We continue to reach out to our most important “customers” -- our Veterans and their families. For them, our most notable event of last year teamed the USAHEC and the Foundation staffs with Korean War Veterans to commemorate the 60th anniversary of the armistice that ended the war’s active hostilities. The Veterans provided the impetus behind an exhibit on the Army Heritage Trail that highlighted an action from April 1951 where Army Rangers were saved by an armored platoon from the 6th Medium Tank Battalion. They provided the background information to the USAHEC staff who procured an M48 tank, painted the tank to the specifications the Veterans described, and prepared the signage for display. The Foundation coordinated with the Office of the Consulate General of the Republic of Korea to speak at the commemoration and exhibit dedication. Additionally, the Foundation staff obtained other media support that included radio and television interviews of the Veterans and national exposure on the website of NBC News. Today, the M48 tank painted like a tiger is one of USAHEC’s “billboards” along the interstate announcing to the public, come here to see Soldier Stories. We want more visitors, so please tell your family and friends about USAHEC.

We also reach out to Veterans in other ways, and I would ask that you review our Education Department’s summary article. They have an active program that links Veterans with regional high school students. Additionally, they bring teachers and students for workshops at USAHEC and inform teachers how to use USAHEC’s resources to better teach our Nation’s history and our Soldiers’ role in defense of the Nation. For young students, they introduce them to primary source materials and the joy of historical research. With your support, they tell “Soldier Stories” on the educational resources pages of the Foundation’s website and also work tirelessly to bring history alive in the classroom. Their management of the State-wide National History Day in PA program affects 12,000 students in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and last year, 64 students participated in the National competition. Their efforts are critical. We need our future leaders to appreciate past challenges and successes but also to understand the shared experience that our Soldiers and their Families have.

I want to again thank all of our members and donors from 2013. Your support has allowed us to continue our efforts for a campus dedicated to honoring our Soldiers, preserving their memories, and educating the Army and the public of our Nation’s history and the Soldiers’ and Army’s role in shaping that history. I want to also ask that you sustain, and if possible, grow your support of our efforts. This facility, located just a short distance from Gettysburg National Battlefield, the largest land battle in the United States, at the intersection of several major interstates, and near several major metropolitan areas is ideally suited to support Soldiers and our Army in telling its history.

The excellent programs of USAHEC and the Foundation are constantly being recognized. USAHEC is now a Smithsonian Affiliate, a unique honor for an Army museum. Jeff Hawks, the Foundation’s Education Director, just received the Adler Friend of Education Award for his efforts with National History Day from the Pennsylvania State Education Association.

Help us grow USAHEC and the Foundation’s programs to better inform our Nation and the world of the greatness of our Soldiers and our Army.

Robert H. Scales, Jr., Ph.D.
Major General, USA Retired

2013 DEVELOPMENT HIGHLIGHTS

Thank you for helping to make 2013 another unforgettable year for the Foundation and the U.S. Army Heritage and Education Center (USAHEC). Through your generosity, the Foundation introduced a new special event to celebrate the Army’s birthday; gained acceptance into the Combined Federal Campaign; and completed the transfer of over a $1 million worth of campus improvements to the U.S. Army. Meanwhile, USAHEC unveiled three new exhibits; acquired two new vehicles for display on the Army Heritage Trail; and earned the Smithsonian Institution’s recognition as an affiliate museum! None of these impressive accomplishments were possible without your support.

MEMBERSHIP

The Membership program provided a significant source of funds for the Foundation’s mission in 2013. Thanks largely to our continued partnership with Members 1st Federal Credit Union and the support of three new GI (lifetime) members, the Foundation collected more than $60,000 in membership dues for the second consecutive year! Membership in the Recruit category did not deviate from 2012, while the Foundation’s overall membership ranks rose modestly during 2013. The Foundation was also able to retain over 50% of its members in 2013…showing just how committed and loyal our members are to expanding USAHEC and its public programs. We have recognized each of our 2013 members, less Recruits, in the back of this report.

With help from Albert Cuneo and Arkwood Products Inc., the Foundation designed and began issuing a new membership card last year. The new style is sturdier and resembles a Soldier’s “dog tag” identification device. Members who renew their support will receive their personalized membership card which can be used in the Museum Store to redeem a members-only 10% discount.
COMBINED FEDERAL CAMPAIGN

In 2013, the Foundation was able to participate in the Combined Federal Campaign (CFC) for the first time in our history! No small feat by any measure…only the very best of our Nation’s charities—as determined by a rigorous selection process by the United States Office of Personnel Management—may be present within this annual fundraising drive.

Each fall, CFC solicits donations from federal employees on behalf of its participating charities. Federal employees may choose to support a specific charity represented by CFC through payroll deductions beginning in January of the next year. Since 2000, CFC has raised more than $1 billion from federal employees for non-profits and their missions all over the country.

During the height of our CFC-related activities, staff members and volunteers employed a variety of tactics to raise awareness of the Foundation’s presence in the campaign. The Foundation sought support from Central PA’s federal workforce and attended the Pentagon’s annual CFC charity fair to engage a host of non-regional federal employees.

As you are reading this report, the Foundation is beginning to receive its first CFC contributions. A final tally will not be available until the end of 2014. Results from the 2013 CFC will be published in the Foundation’s next annual report.

SPECIAL EVENTS

2013 was an exceptionally busy year in that the Foundation hosted not one…but two special events at USAHEC. In addition to our Annual Membership Dinner, the Foundation also presented the region’s Inaugural Army Birthday Celebration. Our Army Birthday Celebration included a Campaign Streamer Ceremony and cake-cutting presentation that involved the oldest Veteran and most junior Soldier from the audience.

During our Membership Dinner, BG (Ret.) Anna Mae Hays, the Army’s first female general officer, was recognized as the 2013 Living Legend Awardee while former Military History Institute staff members Dr. Richard Sommers, Mr. Randy Hackenburg, and Mr. John Slonaker received the 2013 MG John Armstrong Award for their role in developing USAHEC’s archives, photo collection, and patron services. Hendrick Motorsports and the Family Readiness Group of Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 1st Battalion, 109th Infantry Regiment of the Pennsylvania National Guard were also given the 2013 Boots on the Ground Award for their commitment to the Army, its Soldiers, and their Families.

Both events were a huge success thanks to our many sponsors. Thank you to all who attended or supported these memorable events. Our Media Specialist, Ms. Amanda Neal, deserves special praise for her skilled coordination of both events.

COMMEMORATIVE ITEMS

Another highlight among the Foundation’s fundraising activities during 2013 was the sale of commemorative objects for USAHEC’s Soldiers Walk and Memorial Grove. Last year, the Foundation added more than 50 new commemorative bricks and pavers—each recognizing the service of an individual Soldier or group of Veterans—to Soldiers Walk. The Foundation also installed a new park bench bought by Mr. Jimmie George in honor of COL “Tad” Davis III, Ret. and assisted the Gold Star Mothers, Central PA Chapter plant a memorial white dogwood tree along the Army Heritage Trail as a tribute to their fallen sons and daughters. All proceeds generated by the sale of commemorative objects are used to enhance USAHEC’s campus.
Overall, the Foundation received over $385,000 in gifts and donations during 2013. More than 600 individual donors, businesses, foundations, and Veteran associations representing 44 different states contributed to the Foundation’s mission last year. We are often reminded of the generosity of donors like you and assured by your continued support that we can complete the Visitor Center and enhance USAHEC’s ability of “Telling the Army story...one Soldier at a time.”

With the help of supporters like you, we have been able to build this

With your continued support, we will build this

2013 EDUCATION DEPARTMENT HIGHLIGHTS

2013 was a banner year for the Education Department. In addition to greater support to interns and on-site programs, the year included a transition to all-private financing for the departmental budget, a changeover in staff, and significant recognition from numerous sources for the National History Day in Pennsylvania (NHD in PA) program.

Once again, the Department received invaluable help from our interns: Sam Rogers, Shane Reed, Chris Dymski, and Aislynn Murphy.

Our year began with work on the History-Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math (H-STEM Project), funded through a grant from the G.B. Stuart Charitable Foundation. With support from teachers from nearby Cumberland Valley School District, we developed permanent lookdown signs and accompanying educational materials for the Army Heritage Trail that highlight topics that enable teachers to meet educational standards for science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM). The signs invite students to calculate firing angles for artillery, determine the need for firewood for Revolutionary War troops in winter quarters, and to explore the history of smallpox during the American Revolution. The title of the project reflects the addition of the historical dimension to STEM topics and represents a new means of exposing students to the history and heritage of the United States Army.

Once again, the Foundation sponsored the Professor Russell F. Weigley Award for the best paper on military history at the Barnes Club Conference at Temple University. The 2013 award went to University of Maryland student Robert Hutchinson, for his paper “Friendly Advice: German General Staffers and the Foreign Military Studies Program, 1945-1954”. The runner up was Temple University student Thomas A. Reinstein, for his paper “Tonto as Official Policy: The Kit Carson Scouts and Frontier Mythology in the US-Vietnam War”. The award honors the memory of Dr. Russell F. Weigley, a member of Temple University’s History Department who was considered among the elite of our Nation’s military historians.

The 2013 NHD in PA program included a number of noteworthy accomplishments and developments. The Pennsylvania House of Representatives showed their support for NHD in PA by passing House Resolution 297, declaring May 3, 2013 to be National History Day in Pennsylvania. The 2013 contest featured a presentation by documentary filmmaker Nara Garber on the making of her film Flat Daddy, about military families dealing with deployment. Approximately 20% of the students who participate in NHD do so in the documentary category, and Ms. Garber offered a Q&A session to help students hone their filmmaking skills.

The Foundation also partnered with the Pennsylvania Department of Education to run the Honoring Valor contest in conjunction with the NHD in PA contest. A select team of NHD judges met with students with eligible projects to discuss and examine the concept of valor and how their projects reflected upon and celebrated valor. Winning students were selected to attend an all-expenses paid weekend that included a tour of the Gettysburg National Battlefield and the U.S. Army Heritage and Education Center.

The NHD in PA student showcase opened on March 10, 2013 at the State Museum of Pennsylvania. Winning students from 2012 attended an opening ceremony at the museum, and their projects remained on display through the end of June.

2013 NHD Students with Senator Pat Toomey
Thanks to a new survey, we determined that approximately 12,000 students and 320 teachers participate in the NHD program on an annual basis. Of these, more than 900 students and teachers converged on Cumberland Valley High School for the 2013 National History Day in Pennsylvania State Contest.

Sixty-four students were selected to represent Pennsylvania at the national contest. The results at nationals were a testament to the strength of the NHD in PA program: two entries were selected as National Champions, and PA also had one second and one third place entry.

The 2013 Ruth Fellow was Mr. Clinton Wayne Thompson, a graduate student at the University of Texas. Mr. Thompson spent three weeks at USAHEC researching Allied operations and Soldier stories from the Colmar Pocket during the period from December 1944 to February 1945. The Ruth Fellowship honors the military service of Robert L. and Robert C. Ruth and is funded through the generosity of Foundation Board of Directors Vice Chair, Mr. Christopher Gleason.

Education Director Jeff Hawks presented the results and progress of our Teaching With Primary Sources (TPS) program at the Library of Congress Teaching With Primary Sources Eastern Region Conference in Pittsburgh in June. This year, we expanded our TPS offerings with the addition of in-school programs to introduce students to USAHEC resources in partnership with the Carlisle Area School District.

In the fall, the Foundation began the fourth year of the Voices of the Past Speak to the Future Veterans’ Oral History Program. In September, twenty students from Cumberland Valley High School came to USAHEC for a day of training in the proper methods of interviewing Veterans in order to collect their oral histories. The students attended classes in the World War II barracks, ate MRE’s in the World War II mess hall, and met with Veterans as they began their journey into oral history.

The Education Department supported the U.S. Army War College Strategic Film Series for the 2013-14 academic years. With financial support from the Carlisle Barracks/Cumberland Valley Chapter of the Association of the United States Army, we secured public exhibition rights for films in the series to allow members of the public to attend the program. The Foundation also assisted with publicity for the program. The Education Department received additional financial support from Metro Bank, Mid-Penn Bank, PPG Industries, and Shree Associates.

The Foundation’s Researcher for Hire program assisted a total of 30 clients in 2013. The program provides research capability for clients who are unable to travel to USAHEC to conduct research.

Finally, in 2013, we bade a hearty farewell to Education Assistant Paul Kurzawa, who returned to school to pursue a career in nursing. Paul served with the Foundation with distinction for two years, and his contributions will be sorely missed. We also welcomed Ms. Lucy Chubb as the new Education Assistant. Ms. Chubb is a retired teacher with many years of experience working with students and has already begun making her own contributions to the success of the Education Department and our programs.
