Letter from the Executive Director, AHCF

Busy times at the US Army Heritage and Education Center (USAHEC) and at the Army Heritage Center Foundation! We thank our private donors, our Congressional delegation, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the residents of Cumberland County for their financial support and assistance in the development of the Center.

As you can see from the photos of construction, the Foundation sponsored Visitor and Education Center (VEC) and the federally funded Museum Support and Conservation Facility are progressing rapidly. R. S. Mowery & Sons, our contractor, projects that they will complete construction of the VEC in late June 2010. The Foundation will then begin the process of transferring the facility to Army control and finalizing plans to support visitors to the campus. The Museum Support and Conservation Facility is scheduled for completion in Spring 2011 at which time the Army will begin to install the laboratory equipment to bring the facility on line. Though we have much to accomplish in the future—the construction of Phase Two of the Visitor and Education Center and the design and construction of the Heritage Center (the new term the Army has asked we use for the museum)—by 2011 our combined partnership will provide the American public a campus with an accessible archives, engaging educational programs and world class interpretive exhibits that are “telling the Army Story . . . one Soldier at a time.”

I would ask that you take your time and read the contents of this newsletter. The articles from LTC Viney, the USAHEC Director, and the Foundation staff updates describe how the Center is supporting the American public and the Army, engaging our Nation’s youth and how you can continue to advance our efforts.

Please visit our NEW Website at www.armyheritage.org, our Fan Page on FaceBook, or drop by the USAHEC to see how much has been accomplished in creating this national resource for the history of our Army, our Soldiers and their Families, and the Nation.

History event featuring both reenactors and veterans of the 506th Parachute Infantry Regiment of “Band of Brothers” fame. That will be an emotional event for all involved.

We kick off the 2011 Perspectives in Military History lecture series in August with the newly designated General of the Army Omar N. Bradley Memorial Lecture.

Market at Washingtonburg, our popular three-day 18th Century living history event, will return on 10-12 September, coinciding with the Army Heritage Center Foundation’s annual dinner. We look forward to seeing you then.

Our Operations Directorate staff has made tremendous strides under the direction of LTC (R) Tom Hendrix. I share our employees’ gratitude for the high quality and responsiveness of information technology, personnel, logistics, and planning support provided by our Ops folks. Ops has begun the major task of planning our multi-phased move into the VEC this July and the Museum Support Facility, which we will occupy in April next year.

I am sad to report that Dr. Arthur W. Bergeron, Acting Chief of Patron Services Division, USAMHI, lost his battle with cancer on 8 February. Throughout his professional career in Louisiana, Virginia, and since 2004 at USAMHI, Art established a distinguished reputation as an historian of the American Civil War. His numerous books and articles on Louisiana troops and on the Civil War in Louisiana marked him as the foremost authority on those aspects of the war.

The AHEC is a thriving enterprise committed to the highest quality of professional service. An article in the February issue of the American Historical Association newsletter cited us as “one of the most user-friendly archives anywhere.” Not content to rest on our laurels, my directors and I will soon review our mechanisms for gathering customer feedback in order to take full measure of their input. I want to ensure that all of our programs, services, and events meet or exceed the expectations of our patrons.

Our employees give me great reason for being proud of them. I hope you share my conviction. My heartfelt thanks to the members of the Army Heritage Center Foundation. Your continued support is much appreciated and essential to the success of the U.S. Army Heritage and Education Center.

Visitor and Education Center Construction

SFC (R) Dana Bowman, former member of the U.S. Army’s Golden Knights and current motivational speaker, touring the Army Heritage Trail, March 2010
The winter months saw a number of exciting new developments for the Foundation's Education Department:

- Congress awarded the Foundation a grant for educational programs;
- The Department initiated a veteran’s oral history program for high-school and middle-school students;
- Education staff developed a new framework for the Foundation’s educational web content;
- Preparations for the National History Day in Pennsylvania contest in May continued.

Thanks to the efforts of Senator Arlen Specter, Senator Robert Casey, Congressman Todd Platts, and Congressman Bill Shuster, the Army Heritage Center Foundation was awarded US Department of Education’s Fund for the Improvement of Education grant. The award represents a strong commitment to education by these legislators and demonstrates their faith in the Foundation’s ability to provide quality educational enhancements for students and schools throughout the nation.

A grant from the Anne J. Caudal Foundation will allow the Foundation to establish the Voices of the Past Speak to the Future Veteran’s Oral History project. This initiative will train high school and middle school students and teachers in the proper methods of interviewing veterans to collect their oral histories. Students in this program will conduct background research at the AHEC, conduct interviews, and produce a final project in the form of a book, video documentary, website, or other media to share what they learned. In partnership with the Cumberland Valley School District, the Silver Spring Veteran’s Memorial Committee, and the Cumberland County Veteran’s Administration, the Education Department has begun a pilot program in the local area that will expand as funds become available. This project provides an outstanding educational experience as well as an opportunity for members of the Army Heritage Center Foundation to get involved. As the program grows, the Foundation will be seeking veterans across the country willing to be interviewed.

Since the last newsletter, the Education Department has developed a new integrative structure for educational materials on the Foundation’s new website. Using primary sources as the centerpiece, the website will tell the stories of American Soldiers, the historical events and places they witnessed and visited, and describe the weapons and equipment they used. Designed to support National Standards for Teaching History, these materials are provided via our website (www.armyheritage.org) to students and teachers everywhere free of charge.

Foundation interns Becky Libey and Sean Simms have been instrumental in the development of materials for the website and other education programs. Becky, a senior at West Perry High School participating in the Schools to Career program, assisted the Foundation in an effort to identify the remains of American Soldiers recently discovered in Belgium. She is currently writing a biography of Brigadier General Anna Mae Hays, the former head of the Army Nurses Corp and first female general officer in the Army, that will help tell General Hays’ story and continue our tradition of highlighting the history of women and their service. Sean, working as a journalism intern, has written several articles for “This Week in Army History” and other publications on the experiences of POW’s in Europe at the end of World War II. Both Becky and Sean are working on other ongoing projects including a profile of Brigadier General Benjamin O. Davis, the Army’s first African-American general officer, and preparations for the oral history program.

In just over six weeks, the Foundation will host National History Day in Pennsylvania for the third year. Regional contests have already begun, and the state contest will take place at Millersville University on May 12th and 13th. Over 800 students, teachers, parents, and volunteers are expected to attend. The winners of the state contest will move on to represent Pennsylvania at the Kenneth E. Behring national contest at the University of Maryland at College Park, MD, in June. Volunteers and judges for these events are always welcome. To find out more about the program, or to register as a judge or volunteer, please visit the National History Day in Pennsylvania website at pa.nhd.org or contact the Education Department directly.

Development Update

In 2009, with the help of our many donors, the Foundation began construction on Phase One of the Visitor and Education Center. However, much remains to be accomplished if we are to grow and support the Army Heritage and Education Center’s (AHEC) mission of public outreach through “...an accessible archives, engaging educational programs, and a first-class museum.”

With the start of the new year, I invite you to consider a gift or individual and corporate membership to the Foundation. The Foundation is a 501 (c) (3) non-profit organization and gifts are tax deductible. The changing patterns of giving and government grants present challenges and opportunities as we move forward. We need support to sustain Foundation operations, advance our construction program, and to sustain and enhance the AHEC’s and the Foundation’s educational initiatives. Please assist us to move forward!

The Foundation can assure you that your gift will be put to good use toward honoring Soldiers’ service, preserving their stories, and educating our Nation of their sacrifices. You may designate your support for general operations—to enable the Foundation to conduct its construction and educational programs—through a donation to the Annual Fund. You may prefer to designate your support to the Capital Campaign to outfit Phase One of the Visitor and Education Center (VEC) or to provide more classroom and public space to school groups and veterans’ reunions through construction of VEC Phase Two.

Contributing to the Foundation has never been easier! Now you can automate your giving through periodic (quarterly, semi-annual or annual) designated bank drafts from your checking or savings or credit card. For individual memberships, you simply click the appropriate membership level.

AUTOMATIC MONTHLY DONATIONS FROM YOUR BANK ACCOUNT

It is so easy! Save time and trouble through electronic funds transfer. The first automatic deduction from your bank account will occur in about four to five weeks. The Development Office will send confirmation of your enrollment in this periodic (quarterly, semi-annual or annual) plan and note the date of the first deduction. From then on, everything is automatic! A record of the deduction will appear on your bank statement. You can stop or change your deduction frequency at any time. Contact Amanda Neal (dvlpasst@armyheritage.org) at (717) 258-1102 to find out how to do this in just a few clicks from our secure order form on our redesigned website at www.armyheritage.org/giving/ways-to-give.html.

The new Foundation website accommodates secure online transactions including one-time transfers or recurring automatic deductions from bank or credit card accounts.

THE OLD FASHIONED WAY STILL REIGNS SUPREME

Most charitable gifts to the Foundation are made by personal checks and we certainly welcome your support the old fashioned way, too! Simply mail a check to the Army Heritage Center Foundation, P.O. Box 839, Carlisle, PA 17013. Please specify in the Note area whether you want your donation to support the capital campaign (construction/outfitting) or the annual fund (operating).

Do Your Other Charities Measure Up?

Did you know that the Army Heritage Center Foundation, like top-rated charities across the country, openly shares audited financial statements and income tax forms; spends less than $25 to raise $100; and allocates at least 75 percent of money raised towards charitable programs (not fundraising and general administration)? In fact, the Army Heritage Center Foundation dedicates 87.9 percent of money raised toward program services. Can your other charities boast such stewardship? Perhaps it’s time to promote the Army Heritage Center Foundation to your top three?

As a token of our appreciation for your support, you will receive, based on your membership level, several fine thank you gifts (such as priority seating at our annual membership appreciation dinner, framed artist’s print of a military scene, book on Army heritage, or an historic poster and this newsletter).

FOUR TOP REASONS WHY BUSINESSES BECOME FOUNDATION MEMBERS OR CONTRIBUTORS

1. Many business owners feel an affinity for the American Soldier; some related to their life experiences and many for the sacrifices made by Soldiers in service to our nation.

2. The majority of our corporate donors cite that they contribute to support our mission because they want to make a difference.

3. Increasingly, our corporate donors are taking advantage of the opportunity to be recognized for their support through annual recognition in publications and at events, or through facilities naming rights on the AHEC campus.

4. Some businesses acknowledge that they were persuaded by respected colleagues to join them in the cause.

Whether or not you make a gift or enroll in a membership, I also invite you to visit the Center to see the current exhibit in our “taster museum” in Ridgway Hall, walk the Army Heritage Trail—expansive grounds that contain reconstructed historic facilities such as Civil War winter cabins and artifacts such as a WW II-era Sherman tank—and check out the progress on construction of the Visitor and Education Center. This first phase of the VEC will provide desperately needed classroom and public program facilities, gallery exhibits and cases for our artifacts to be shown in the first gallery of the Army Heritage Museum. If you already are a member of the Foundation, thank you for your continued support, and please consider upgrading to the next membership level.

Please contact Amanda Neal or Gwenn Miller Ftohidis if you have questions about your membership or donation at (717) 258-1102. Thank you in advance for your continued support of the Army Heritage and Education Center!

MARK YOUR CALENDAR FOR SEPTEMBER 10TH: IT’S ALL ABOUT YOU!

The Army Heritage Center Foundation cannot thank its members and donors enough...but on September 10, 2010 we will honor your support at our Third Annual Membership Dinner. Last year’s event was an overwhelming success, from the touching telling of his experience by Band of Brothers fame, Mr. Joe Lesniewski, to the nail biting excitement of the silent auction, to the camaraderie of an evening with people who care deeply about keeping Soldiers’ stories alive.

The Foundation projects in excess of 300 individuals will attend this year’s event. The dinner will honor veterans past and present and members like you who support the Center’s efforts in “Telling the Army Story ... one Soldier at a time.” Also in attendance that evening will be local leaders, Soldiers recently deployed, veterans, Army War College students and Wounded Warriors.

We encourage you to remain overnight and attend the Market at Washingtonburg outdoor living history event at the Army Heritage and Education Center scheduled for September 11-12, 2010.

Make the Army Heritage Center Foundation One of Your Top Three!

If you value the Foundation’s efforts to highlight the Citizen-Soldiers’ sacrifices while promoting a vigorous defense, at home and abroad, of American ideas and institutions; if you care about educating the American people about the history of the U.S. Army and the Nation; if it matters to you that the Army Heritage and Education Center is the only institution dedicated to telling the public the Army’s story through the narratives of individual Soldiers; then please make the Army Heritage Center Foundation one of your top three charities this year! Without your support, who will tell their stories?

LIFETIME GIVING RECOGNITION

Donors that provide outright and substantial financial support to the Foundation’s efforts will receive public recognition in the Visitor and Education Center.

The total of all gifts received during a donor’s lifetime determines membership in the new giving... societies. Corporate matching gifts count toward society membership. Total lifetime giving will be recognized by society membership as described below.

Lifetime Giving levels recognize donors for outright and irrevocable gifts. An irrevocable deferred gift, such as a charitable remainder trust, charitable gift annuity, or gift of a life insurance policy, counts toward membership in both the Lifetime Society and the Standard Bearers Society.

STANDARD BEARERS SOCIETY

The Standard Bearers Society recognizes donors who have made deferred gifts to the Foundation in the amounts of $10,000 or more until such time that the gift is received or the gift is made irrevocable.

One of my most satisfying duties as Director, US Army Heritage and Education Center (AHEC) is compiling a weekly report of our most significant actions for the Commandant of the U.S. Army War College. Every week without fail, I report with tremendous pride the remarkable services that our historians, librarians, archivists, and museum specialists perform. A few recent examples follow.

Mr. John Kurash, our audio-visual curator, won two annual Davey Awards for films he created for AHEC exhibits. The International Academy of the Visual Arts bestowed these awards. John’s film on WWI veteran Frank Buckles won a Gold Davey for best film in its category. “Lubitsch’s Lens,” which previously earned a Telly Award, earned a silver Davey.

LTC (R) Tom Hendrix earned two civilian decorations for his deployed service in Iraq last fall as command historian for the Multi-National Security Transition Command-Iraq.

The Library of Congress invited the Technical Services Branch of our U.S. Army Military History Institute to become members of the NACO (Name Authority Cooperative) program of its PCC (Program for Cooperative Cataloging). This honor reflects outstanding work over the past year by Mrs. Lori Sekela, Ms. Lisa Briner, Mrs. Cindi Martin, and Ms. Roberta Berthelot. Their work will facilitate researchers’ efforts worldwide.

The AHEC has also gained international renown for our support to the federal government, the joint force, all levels of our Army, other nations, as well as state, local, veteran, and nongovernmental organizations. Consider this impressive list of USAHEC patrons from just the past six months alone: the President of the United States, the White House Commission on Remembrance, the Congressional Research Service, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, US Central Command, US Special Operations Command, US European Command, International Security Assistance Force, Combined Security Transition Command - Afghanistan, Joint Special Operations Command, Defense Intelligence Agency, Joint POW/MIA Accounting Command, Defense Technical Information Center, the Pentagon Library, National Defense University, US Navy War College, the Marine Corps University, the Office of the Chief of Staff, Army, the Director of the Army Staff, HQ Department of the Army Public Affairs Office, HQ Department of the Army Past Conflicts Repatriations Branch, Department of the Army Environmental Law Division, Army Research Lab Technical Library, Army Wounded Warriors Program, US Army Forces Command, US Army Training and Doctrine Command, US Army Special Operations Command, the United States Military Academy, The John F. Kennedy Joint Special Warfare Center, the Office of Military Commissions, Army Contracting Command, Army Material Command, Army Acquisition Command, Army Capabilities Integration Center, Combined Arms Center, Corp of Engineers, Army Acquisition Support Center, US Army Materiel Command (LOGSA), Center of Military History, United States Army Military Police School, U.S. Army Soldier Support Institute, FT Huachuca, FT Polk, Redstone Arsenal, Picatinny Arsenal, Letterkenny Army Depot, the Patton Museum of Armor and Cavalry, the FT Sill Museum, the Chaplain Museum, the National Infantry Museum, Command and General Staff College, I Corps, Pennsylvania Army and Air National Guard, 10th Mountain Division, 4th Sustainment Command, 205th Infantry Brigade, 421st Multifunctional Medical Bn, 541st Combat Support Sustainment Battalion, 1-13th Cavalry, the Office of Defense Cooperation in Turkey, the South African Army, the Norwegian Institute of Defense Studies, the Iraqi Peshmerga Guard, National Park Service, Gettysburg Foundation, Constitution Center, Cumberland County Convention and Visitors Bureau, Cumberland Valley Schools, Veterans of the Battle of the Bulge, Lucas Films, National Ranger Memorial Foundation, Houston Civil War Round Table, and St. Patrick’s School in Carlisle, not to mention our parent organization US Army War College and its subordinate organizations Strategic Studies Institute and U.S. Army Peacekeeping and Stability Operations Institute.

We began this fiscal year with an informational display at the Association of the United States Army (AUSA) conference in Washington, D.C in October. With additional funding received from the USAWC Commandant, we will have an even better display this year.

This winter, we conducted much anticipated oral history interviews with retired Generals Bance Craddock and David McKiernan as part of our Senior Leader Debriefing Program.

In October, we held a groundbreaking ceremony for Phase I of the Visitor and Education Center that was well attended by the post, the public, and elected officials from the national, state, and local levels. I am well satisfied that construction is on schedule to be completed in July. Mike Perry gave me and my directors our first tour of the interior last week. We are very eager to move in to our new work spaces and to create a world class gallery highlighting the functions of USAHEC. We are hopeful that later this month the Army will come up with the outstanding funds required for furniture, the security system, and a contract for the design and fabrication of the 7,000-square foot gallery. We look forward to occupying the building under a beneficial lease from the Army Heritage Center Foundation in mid- to late summer. Our first exhibit in the VEC gallery will commemorate the 150th anniversary of the first year of the American Civil War and will open in February 2011. The next major event in the VEC will be the grand opening ceremony on 9 September 2011, which will be accompanied by the opening of an exhibit honoring the tenth anniversary of the 9/11 terrorist attacks and the commencement of the Global War on Terrorism. The U.S. Army War College will hold its annual 9/11 commemoration in conjunction with our VEC opening ceremony.

Visitors to Ridgway Hall have responded very positively to our “Carlisle Barracks: Then and Now” exhibit, which opened on the bridge deck in January. This exhibit traces the development of the nation’s oldest Army post since its founding in 1757 through photographs and artifacts, including among them the 1801-dated deed for the land from the Penn family to the federal government, as well as the 1775-dated bellows from the iron forge that operated here during the Revolutionary War.

In support of the U.S. Army War College, we created exhibits on the history of Bliss Hall and an exhibit on general officers for the new Commandant’s Waiting Room. This room for visiting VIPs will feature exhibits changing annually. The next installation on the Carlisle Indian Industrial School will be emplaced in September.

Other exhibits upcoming this month that continue to hone the considerable talents of our museum folks are the annual display for the West Point Society of Central Pennsylvania Founder’s Day event and an exhibit on “Model 1910 Equipments”, which will be shown at the Maryland Arms Collector Association show before emplacement in the Ridgway Hall foyer. On 23 April, we will open an exhibit entitled “America’s Last Five Star General” celebrating the life and career of General of the Army Omar N. Bradley.

I am proud to announce that we have instituted a new annual event in support of the education and strategic communication missions of the U.S. Army War College. This is an historical panel named for General Bradley that will provide historical context for the theme of the annual US Army War College’s Strategy Conference on 6-8 April.

The weekend of 15-16 May will be one of our biggest events of the year. We have added a second day to our popular Army Heritage Day. This year’s event, which we anticipate will draw 10,000 visitors, will feature reenactors from all periods of U.S. Army history, plus special events, such as the unveiling of a new Cold War macro exhibit, the addition of life-size cutout figures in all macro exhibits on the Army Heritage Trail, as well as the dedication of a memorial to the gallant aviators of the 44th Bomb Group in World War Two. If you can only make it to Carlisle once a year, this is the event not to miss.

In July, we will host a smaller World War Two living continued on page 10

Letter from the Executive Director, AHCF

Busy times at the US Army Heritage and Education Center (USAHEC) and at the Army Heritage Center Foundation! We thank our private donors, our Congressional delegation, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the residents of Cumberland County for their financial support and assistance in the development of the Center.

As you can see from the photos of construction, the Foundation sponsored Visitor and Education Center (VEC) and the federally funded Museum Support and Conservation Facility are progressing rapidly. R. S. Mowery & Sons, our contractor, projects that they will complete construction of the VEC in late June 2010. The Foundation will then begin the process of transferring the facility to Army control and finalizing plans to support visitors to the campus. The Museum Support and Conservation Facility is scheduled for completion in Spring 2011 at which time the Army will begin to install the laboratory equipment to bring the facility on line.

Though we have much to accomplish in the future—the construction of Phase Two of the Visitor and Education Center and the design and construction of the Heritage Center (the new term the Army has asked we use for the museum)—by 2011 our combined partnership will provide the American public a campus with an accessible archives, engaging educational programs and world class interpretive exhibits that are "telling the Army Story . . . one Soldier at a time."

I would ask that you take your time and read the contents of this newsletter. The articles from LTC Viney, the USAHEC Director, and the Foundation staff updates describe how the Center is supporting the American public and the Army, engaging our Nation's youth and how you can continue to advance our efforts.

Please visit our NEW Website at www.armyheritage.org, our Fan Page on Facebook, or drop by the USAHEC to see how much has been accomplished in creating this national resource for the history of our Army, our Soldiers and their Families, and the Nation.
