

99th Infantry Division

The 99th "Checkerboard" Infantry Division, also nicknamed the "Battle Babies," was activated on 15 November 1942 at Camp Van Dorn, Mississippi. Established as a "triangular" division, the unit was organized with three infantry regiments, the 393d, the 394th and the 395th Infantry Regiments.

Following service in the European Theater of Operations to include participation in the Battle of the Bulge the division was inactivated at Camp Patrick Henry, Virginia, on 27 September 1945.

In 1942 a typical infantry regiment consisted of a headquarters and band, a headquarters company, a service company, an anti-tank company, a cannon company, and three infantry battalions.

In March 1943 the basic infantry regiment was reorganized to include a headquarters, a headquarters company, a service company, an anti-tank company, and three infantry battalions.

Each of the three infantry battalions consisted of a headquarters and headquarters company, three rifle companies and a heavy weapons company. Within each regiment, the 1st Battalion consisted of Companies A through D, the 2d Battalion consisted of Companies E through H, and the 3d Battalion consisted of Companies I through M (there was no Company J).
